UOG summer classes will be held online

The University of Guam announces that all courses in its finakpo' (summer) sessions will be held completely online. Courses will be offered through Moodle and other virtual meeting platforms. There will be no in-person classes for the summer sessions.

Summer courses are available in three sessions. Session A begins June 1, Session B begins June 8, and Session C begins July 6.

Students can view the Finakpo' 2020 Course Schedule at <https://url.uog.edu/finakpo2020>. The university highly encourages students to speak with their advisors and review course prerequisites to ensure appropriate class selection.

- Currently enrolled students: Registration is now open. Students should contact their academic advisors for questions and assistance.
- Students returning after a semester or more off: Contact the Office of Admissions and Records for further guidance at admitme@triton.uog.edu or 735-2214.
