Welcome!

To new faculty members, I am pleased to welcome you to the University of Guam, and the College of Liberal Arts and Social Sciences.

To continuing faculty members, thank you for your enduring dedication to our College and University goals.

At the heart of the College's mission is the creation of a challenging and stimulating environment that supports active teaching and learning. As a full-time member of our dynamic faculty, you play an important role in the fulfillment of that mission.

This handbook has been prepared to help orient new faculty as they begin to plan their teaching and to be a resource to continuing faculty. It should serve as a reference for questions that develop along the way. Most questions, which you might have concerning policy and procedure, are addressed herein. Important campus resources are introduced. The UOG web page (<http://www.uog.edu>) will give you access to further information and announcements of upcoming campus activities.

This handbook is NOT a substitute for the BOR/AFT Faculty Union Agreement, the Comprehensive Faculty Evaluation System, or the Rules, Regulations and Procedures Manual. You should have copies of those three important documents, and you should consult them regularly, especially in regard to your contractual and professional obligations, rights, and responsibilities. Recently hired faculty members may want to acquaint themselves with the last section of this handbook entitled “Mentoring for New Faculty.”*

I should also point out that there are two different types of full-time faculty status, namely tenure stream, and non-tenure stream (also known as limited term contracts). If you are not certain about your status, then you should contact me immediately.

Let me again extend our welcome to new faculty and my hopes that your connection with the College will be rewarding for you and your students.

Sincerely,

James D. Sellmann, Ph.D., Dean

Course Related Information

This handbook is NOT a substitute for the BOR/AFT Faculty Union Agreement, the Comprehensive Faculty Evaluation System, or the Rules, Regulations and Procedures Manual. You should have copies of those documents, and you should consult them regularly, especially in regard to your contractual obligations, and professional rights and responsibilities.

Getting Started

All full-time faculty members are expected to perform the tripartite roles: instruction, research, and service. The majority of full-time faculty members are hired as teaching faculty, which means that at least 50% of their workload is dedicated to instruction. At the University of Guam (UOG) our focus is on excellence in teaching and concern for our students' learning and development. Achieving excellence requires setting expectations that are challenging and the creation of learning environments that provide the appropriate forms of support for rising to meet those challenges. UOG students are expected to begin their college career with a first year seminar course, a semester-long orientation to college life and the skills and attitudes necessary to be successful. The primary pillars of a student's education at UOG are the General Education program and the student's Major. The curriculum in both these areas is structured to be developmental and integrated, so that graduates leave UOG with the knowledge, skills, and values that will assist them to live fulfilling and productive lives in an ever more complex world.

The goal of teaching excellence is supported by several guiding principles:

- A) Careful course preparation
- B) Creation of an active classroom environment in which writing, discussion, and individual and collaborative application of ideas takes place
- C) Respectful interactions with students in class and in office hours
- D) Respect for the diverse cultures that our students represent—learn to pronounce their family names
- E) Professionalism that represents well the discipline, the department and the college.

Academic Message

A UOG student's highest purpose is Academic Citizenship: giving attention to learning and reflection, developing intellectually, connecting knowledge and experiences, and upholding professional standards and ethical codes.

In support of Academic Citizenship, UOG faculty members should substantively challenge their students and expect excellence of them. Faculty should reinforce the Academic Citizenship message, clarify course expectations, use professional standards, and expect timeliness. If a student seeks academic advice, and you are not prepared to assist them, you should ask them to consult another full-time faculty member who is a student advisor. Student advisors are listed in the UOG Undergraduate Catalog. Every faculty member is a student advisor.

Book Orders and Course Packs

Textbooks are ordered through the Division office. The books are sold at the Triton Bookstore, located at the Student Center. Generally, Fall textbooks will have been ordered toward the end of the prior February, and Spring material toward the end of September. If you are considering changing a textbook, check with your Chair concerning whether texts have already been ordered for your course or if there are certain guidelines for text selection set by the department. Multi-section courses must use the same textbook. You should submit your book order on the standard order form available from the Division secretary. Information you will need to provide includes primary author, title, edition, publisher, and ISBN. Use the online book order process. The division assistant will provide you information about the link and due dates.

Course Packs can also be sold at the campus Triton Bookstore. If you are interested in developing a course pack, the Bookstore can assist you. It is essential that copyright permissions be secured for all copyrighted material, and it is your responsibility to secure them.

Classroom Location

Classrooms are assigned through the Division and Dean's office. If you have some particular requests concerning classroom features, discuss them with your Chair. He or she will consult with the Dean's office to determine available options. A final list of classroom locations is available at the Dean's office prior to the beginning of each semester. You could consult the course schedule or the Division secretary to learn where your class will meet.

Office Location and Office Hours

Your Chair will work with the Dean to secure an office space for you. In some Divisions, full-time faculty members share an office. New faculty may contact their Chair or secretary to learn of their office assignment, and office phone number. To obtain a UOG computer login for e-mail services or to change your e-mail or internet access, a form for the UOG Computer Center with the Dean's approval is required.

Your office will provide you a place at which to work and to meet with students. Full-time faculty members are kindly requested to be available outside of class time for their students. The current contract requires full-time faculty to hold office hours. You must be available in your office for, at least, six (6) hours each week, and the six hours must be distributed over a three day period. You must state your office hours on the Faculty Load Information form, your syllabus and your office door. Please, do not schedule office hours for very short periods of time such as twenty (20) minutes or less.

Faculty Load and Overload

During the first week of classes you will be requested to complete a Faculty Load Information form—see attached. This information is only used by the Division and Dean's offices. It is especially requested that you provide your home phone number in case of an emergency, and we need to reach you. Please, note that the BOR/AFT Faculty Union Agreement establishes a full-time teaching load as 12 credit hours.

The current administrative practice limits full-time teachers to a course overload of only 2 courses per-semester, including courses from any Division within the University. Compensation for overload courses for full-time instructors is determined by the CLASS Academic Affairs Committee and the Dean and is guided by overall University practice. The compensation guidelines are based on a combination of factors, including academic credentials and course enrollment. Currently, instructors holding a terminal degree are paid $1000.00 per-credit hour, and instructors with less than a terminal degree are paid $833.33 per-credit hour. For terminal degree holders, if at least 8 students (non-terminal degree holders require a minimum of 7 enrolled students) do not enroll in the course, you will have the option either to cancel the course or to teach for prorated pay that is 65% of the total tuition. Before canceling a course due to low enrollment, you should discuss the situation with your Chair. Unless the enrollment is very low (e.g. less than 6 students; 5 for non-terminal degree holders), or you have a family or medical emergency, it is generally considered unprofessional to cancel a course you have agreed to teach. It could be detrimental to the students' academic progress if you back out of teaching an overload course after it appears in the printed schedule. The BOR/AFT Faculty Union Agreement is the governing document regarding working conditions.

Syllabus

Your course syllabus must follow the guidelines established in the BOR/AFT Faculty Union Agreement. The official Course Outline form may be distributed at the same time. You can obtain a copy of the Course Outline form at the Division or Dean's office; they are also on the UOG website. Syllabi must be distributed to students during the first week of classes. A syllabus should be a clear and informative document that communicates your expectations to your students and that provides them a guide to being successful in your class. There are, of course, various ways to develop a syllabus and your Chair will be glad to share model syllabi with you. Below are the types of information you are encouraged to include:

1. A matrix that contains and aligns course SLOs, PLOs, and ILOs;
2. A semester calendar that lists due dates for assignments, exams, and other important dates, and a statement of the time of all meetings, such as laboratory periods, scheduled in connection with the class;
2. A statement of the prerequisites of the course, if any. Students not eligible for the course should be sent immediately to the Registrar's Office. Students whose names are not on the official roster should not be allowed to attend;
3. Discussion of the learning objectives and the value to be derived from the course; state the student learning outcome assessment methods used in the course;
4. Discussion of the contents of the course; link each assignment to the course SLOs and PLOs;

5. A statement of the complete requirements of the course, including the textbook(s) and required library readings, the number and nature of required reports and papers, supplementary readings, and the types of quizzes/examinations to be used; the readings, assignments and test should be explicitly linked to the course learning objectives;
6. An explanation of the method to be used in computing the final course grade;
7. The attendance policy for the class;
8. The UOG ADA policy approved by the SVP;
9. The plagiarism policy;
10. A discussion of professionalism and any specific issues relevant to this course (e.g., what is and is not acceptable collaboration within your course);
11. Office location, office hours, office telephone, and campus e-mail.

You are asked to provide your Chair with a hard copy of your syllabus. Chairs may also request soft copies. Copies of syllabi are made available to assist in advising, library acquisitions, accreditation reviews, and other college purposes.

Mandatory Assessment

Assessments at both the course and program levels prompt change so as to improve student learning, curriculum, and pedagogy. Faculty members are required to complete at least one assessment report each academic year. Assessment provides valuable information specific to student learning outcomes (SLOs) and program learning outcomes (PLOs). Assessment of SLOs and PLOs are also expected to align with institutional learning outcomes (ILOs). Faculty are encouraged to develop and execute an assessment project with guidance from their respective Chair or faculty mentor or Dean and Associate Dean. Assessment reports are due on or before October 1. Specifically, assessment reports completed in the Fall or Spring semester must be submitted the following Fall semester on or before the 1st of October. Reports must be uploaded to TracDat, the University's assessment database. Faculty members should consult with their respective Division Chair or Dean and Associate Dean.

Teaching TIPS

Strategies for Active Learning

A handbook is not an optimum avenue for "teaching about teaching." At best, it can share with you some general ideas about an orientation to teaching shared by many UOG faculty.

Education is a dynamic union of teachers, learners, and the material to be learned. There is much diversity in each of these three arenas, and excellent teaching acknowledges and attempts to build upon the strengths of that diversity. In short, no single method is right for all people or for any single person on all occasions. It is important to think carefully about how one teaches and to whom, just as much as it is what one teaches. There are times when specific content is indeed best transmitted through a clear and engaging lecture. But one must be sensitive to the realistic limits of people's attention span and to the range of learning outcomes for which even excellent lecturing is appropriate. For instance, if a course goal is for students to apply a theory to a hypothetical case, then opportunities to engage in such thinking must be built into the class. It is not reasonable to assume that students will be able to make such transfer of learning without guidance and practice.

UOG faculty members have worked with and have developed a wide variety of methods and strategies for what may broadly be termed active learning.

Classroom techniques may include such activities as:

- Case studies
- collaborative learning groups

Curriculum innovations such as:

- writing across the curriculum
- critical thinking initiatives, and

Non classroom based instruction such as:

- student research and
- experiential learning
- service learning

Technology based activities such as:

- online forums
- Power Point/Prezi presentations
- Video projects.

Enter into discussions with your department colleagues about your own ideas, seek out their ideas, and listen carefully to what your students will teach you about the art of teaching.

Examinations and Projects

The preparation of exams and projects is of equal importance to the preparation for class sessions. Meaningful assessment of student performance is not an add-on to classroom activities, but is rather an integral part of the learning experience. Thus, not only should content mastery be a focus for assessment, but also skill development. For example, if it is our goal for students to communicate more clearly in writing, then we must have them write and we must assess those abilities. If we believe that education is more than rote memorization, and suggests the capacity for critical application of knowledge to meaningful situations, then we must design our assessment procedures to assess such competencies. Finally, assessing student work is more than assigning letter grades. It is part of our ongoing dialog with our students. Therefore, it is incumbent upon us to provide our students with multiple and varied means of having their progress assessed and to provide them feedback that is timely, clear, and directed toward improvement. (Being told one did something wrong is not as helpful as being provided early in the semester with some guidance as to how one might improve.)

There are some guidelines you might wish to consider as you plan this part of your course.
YOU SHOULD:

- A) give multiple and varied assessments. These provide more regular and reliable information about student progress for both you and your students and help you find potential problems earlier in the semester;
- B) provide clear and timely notice of exams and due dates (as well as any changes made to previously established dates). UOG student evaluations of faculty show that they are very sensitive to whether the instructor is on time for class, and ending class on time. They also watch for effective use of class time;
- C) provide clear guidelines about your expectations. You should not assume they will be understood without saying (such clarity need not stifle student creativity or initiative);
- D) think through your own opinions about missed exams, makeup tests, and late assignments (you might also discuss such issues with your departmental colleagues), and then decide upon a practice you can implement clearly, consistently, and evenhandedly with your class;
- E) remain fair in your grading. Students are sensitive to issues of fairness, so be sure to check with your Chair about any departmental grading scale. There is not one universal grading scale throughout the college. You'll want to know what is done in your department;
- F) there is a university wide policy that the final exam period must be used, if not for a final exam, then to recap and close the course.

Other questions you might have about college policy concerning rescheduling exams, final exams, and so forth should be directed to your Chairperson.

Tutors

If you need special tutors for your course, please, discuss options with your Chair. Student Support Services offer limited tutor services, especially for Math and English. DEAL supports a Writing Center that provides tutoring services to students. The Writing Center prioritizes students enrolled in English classes, but does not turn students away.

Important Campus Resources

There are various resources on campus that provide valuable support in implementing the academic program. Several of them, which may be of most immediate help to you or to your students, are discussed below. Please, feel free to turn to your colleagues in these areas for their specialized assistance. Your Chair can also advise you about other resources not listed here. Hours of operation occasionally change, particularly near exam times.

If it is a task that cannot be performed by the technician, the Associate Dean and the secretary will have it routed to the Computer Center or a repair shop. There must be a Purchase Order (PO) in place BEFORE a computer is taken into a repair shop.

The College supports 4 computer labs: the DEAL computer classroom (EC 202); the Digital Language Lab (HSS 310); a Modern Language teaching lab in HSS 111; and the Communication/Graphics lab in EC 209.

Student Advising

Academic student advising is the responsibility of every faculty member. Faculty associated with a major or minor should discuss advising, and make assignments of students to each of the program's faculty. Faculty members are encouraged to utilize WebAdvisor as a resource to retrieve advisee contact information. Advisors are encouraged to communicate regularly with advisees so as to address curricular and co-curricular issues and needs. As an advisor, you should maintain an advisement file on each student.

Student Counseling Services

The Student Counseling Services provide both academic and personal counseling. They can be reached at 735-2233/34.

Student Counseling Services can assist you if you have a student who needs special assistance. If you have concerns about a student in your class (excessive absences, early indications of probable failure, etc.), you are encouraged to contact the office by phone, or in person. Indicate the name of the student, the course, and the specific concern you have. The center will notify the student's academic advisor in hopes of redressing the problem in a timely manner. Unexpected changes in a student's attendance and performance can be a sign of some personal or familial problem. At times you might wish to encourage a student to contact the Counseling Center.

You are also welcome to call the Center to consult with the staff about concerns you might have about a student. Free psychological counseling services are available at the Isa Clinic in HSS 202. Call 735-2883 for more information.

Once a student declares a major, he or she is assigned to an academic advisor in that program. However, there are many students (especially freshman and first semester sophomores) who are still undecided. The Registrar, Student Counseling, and Student Affairs organizations work with students from the time they are admitted to when they are assigned a departmental advisor. There are other advising activities coordinated through the Student Affairs organization.

Student Life Office Eden Galvez 735-2271

Student Life organizes academic advising during new student orientation.

Career Placement Office

The Career Placement Office is designed to assist students and alumni in internship opportunities and career choices.

Services:

- * Career counseling and assessment
- * Job search and referral
- * Resume writing and interview critique
- * Workshops
- * Internship opportunities
- * Alumni connections (mentorship).

Health Services

The Student Health Services provide outpatient care for a wide range of minor injuries and ailments. For current services and hours of operation contact 735-2225.

Americans with Disabilities Act

ADA matters are handled by the Equal Employment Opportunities Office. ADA ensures that individuals with disabilities have equal access and nondiscriminatory access to all benefits, privileges, opportunities and obligations provided by the University. The EEO Office can be reached at 735-2971. If a student needs assistance with one of the external elevators, then you should contact the Safety Office at 735-2365 or dispatch office 649-9275 or guard on duty 888-2456.

Every Syllabus must contain the ADA statement developed and approved by the University:

If you are a student with a disability who will require an accommodation(s) to participate in this course, please contact both the Institutional Compliance Officer and me privately to discuss your specific needs. You will need to provide me with documentation concerning your need for accommodation(s) from the EEO/ADA & TITLE IX Office. If you have not registered with the EEO/ADA & TITLE IX Office, you should do so immediately at 735-2244, (TTY) 735-2243 to coordinate your accommodation request.

General Issues

Class Rosters

You may access a class roster in WebAdvisor. If a student is present whose name is not on the roster, the student should be requested to report immediately to the Registrar's office. However, some of these students may have copies of receipts indicating that they have already enrolled in the class, but after the tentative roll was processed. Their names should show up on your permanent roll. During the Drop/Add period, students may request your permission to enter your course after the course is "closed" due to full enrollment. Although it is your choice to allow students to enter, you should take care that you do not allow more students to enter than permitted by the posted Fire Code, or available chairs in the room.

You should check WebAdvisor for the roster at the end of Drop/Add registration (about two weeks into the semester). The Registrar should be informed immediately of any discrepancies between class membership and the permanent roster. Students not officially enrolled in the class may not receive credit and should not be permitted to attend, unless you have agreed that the student may audit your course. If you have students whose names appear on the roster but who are not attending class, report them to the Student Counseling Services early in the semester. (Refer back to the section on Academic Advising.)

Duplicating Services

Your Division provides services for duplicating syllabi, exams, and other course materials. Your Chair or administrative assistant will provide the account number you will need to operate the copy machine. If you cannot copy the material yourself, then you should give the Division secretary a one or two day advanced notice of the work requested.

Supplies and Materials

Course related supplies and materials are available at your Division Office. Your Chair is responsible for the Division budget and will advise you concerning procedures to order necessary supplies.

Attendance Policy

The College's emphasis on active and collaborative learning in the classroom encourages responsibility for all students to attend class regularly. Recognizing this principle, divisions and individual faculty members maintain professional discretion for determining their specific attendance policy. Consult first with your Chair concerning any established division guidelines. Whatever policy you finally implement, it is imperative that it be clearly communicated to your students. Print it clearly on your syllabus and review it in class on the first day the course meets.

Canceling Class

UOG's emphasis on active learning places a high value on class meeting time, and you are expected to meet every scheduled class for the entire period. If health or other emergencies should arise, you must notify your Chair or secretary of your absence. They will arrange to post this information in your classroom. Normally these absences are made up by arrangement with your students. If you will not be in class due to an anticipated absence, inform your Chair as early in the semester as possible, and submit a leave form and the Variance Notification Form in advance of your leave—see attached forms. Your Chair will assist, but you should arrange for a colleague to cover your class or plan an appropriate experience for your class during your absence. Failure to meet scheduled classes is considered to be a serious abrogation of your contract.

Grading

Final Grade Reports

You will be asked to submit a grade online for each of your students at the end of the semester, using the Web-advisor software. Approximately a week before the end of the semester, the Registrar's Office will have a final grade report available in WebAdvisor. It is crucial that you submit your grade reports by the time indicated by the Registrar. Grades for graduating Seniors are usually due the Friday of final exam week, and other student grades are usually due the Monday following final exams. Grades are to be submitted online to the Admissions and Records Office via WebAdvisor.

Grade reports are made available to students through the Web-Advisor. Though parents sometimes request information on grades, these are part of the student's official record and may not be reported to the parents or other parties without the student's permission. This is a federal law—see the FERPA regulations. Notification of this to parents, should the occasion arise, is to be handled diplomatically. Open communication between the student and his or her parents is encouraged, though confidentiality of student records must be upheld.

Grading System

Graduation is dependent upon the quality as well as the quantity of work completed. Specific cutoffs for awarding letter grades vary across programs, and you will want to consult with your Chair and colleagues concerning norms for your area.

Grade

A (Excellent)

F (Failed)

I (Incomplete)

P (Passing, only for special courses)

W (Withdrawal - prior to semester date posted)
UW (Unofficial Withdrawal; calculated as an F)
CW (Credit Withheld)
NC (No-Credit, only for special courses)

* Grades are permanent and may not be changed except in case of error or the student retaking the course. After an instructor has certified a grade to the Registrar, he/she may change it before the end of the next regular grading period only if there was an error in calculating or recording the grade. The change must be made in writing on the proper Change of Grade Form and have the signed approval of the Dean. Copies of the Change of Grade Form and the petition for an Incomplete Form are attached. Please, note that the student should initiate the petition for an incomplete. It is advisable but not required that the student sign the form. At the very least, the student must agree to receive an incomplete. If the student is not available, then the Instructor may submit an incomplete form without the student's signature.

* Repeat Courses: Courses repeated following first enrollment in the course count only once in computing the cumulative grade point average. In such cases, the most recent grade is counted rather than any previous grade(s) received.

* Pass/Fail Courses: Only a few special courses are offered on a pass/fail basis.

Grade Appeal Procedure

Any student enrolled at the University of Guam may appeal a grade on the basis of a question concerning:

- * clerical error,
- * personal bias or arbitrary grading.

The formal appeal must be made as soon as possible immediately following the grading period for which the grade is received.

Procedure:

- A. The student should immediately discuss the situation with the professor involved. At that meeting, the faculty member will:
 1. Show the student any of the student's work which remains in the faculty member's possession (e.g., papers, final examination, projects).
 2. Review any work which the student brings to discuss.
 3. Explain how the student's grade was determined based on the standards set forth at the beginning of the class.
 4. Re-figure the numerical computation of the grade, if any, to ascertain that there has been no clerical error. If the grievance can be equitably settled, the matter will be closed.
- B. If the grievance cannot be equitably settled, the student shall immediately discuss the matter with the professor's Chairperson. If the student, the professor and the Chairperson can settle the grievance equitably, the matter is closed. If the grievance cannot be equitably settled, the student shall immediately file a formal written appeal with the Dean.

- C. The student shall then discuss the matter with the Dean, who shall discuss the grievance with the student, the professor, and the Chairperson. The Dean shall conduct these discussions as expeditiously as possible. If the grievance can be equitably settled, the matter will be closed. If the grievance cannot be equitably settled, by the above informal process, then the student should follow the procedure in the Student Handbook as outlined in the Procedure for Solution of Problems of Student Academic Rights.

Evaluation

Course Evaluations

Toward the end of the semester, you should arrange for the students to go to a lab to complete the online course evaluation. You may be asked to proctor another instructor's course evaluation while that instructor proctors your course evaluation. Student evaluation of the learning process provides vital information to the ongoing assessment and improvement of the academic program. It also provides valuable feedback to the individual professor concerning his or her own professional development. You will get a summary of the quantitative analysis for your course as well as written comments provided by students. The Dean's office will also be given this information. You are welcome and encouraged to review these evaluations with your chair. A copy of the evaluation form is included at the end of this handbook.

Chair's Evaluation

One responsibility of Chairs is to mentor both full-time and part-time faculty. You may request your Chair or another colleague to observe and evaluate your teaching. These observations provide an insight into the processes of teaching that often are not captured on evaluation forms. A post-observation consultation with your Chair can help identify areas of strength and concern, and can be used as a collegial opportunity to refine and improve one's work in the course. You are encouraged to solicit input from your Chair throughout the semester on a range of issues that might enhance your teaching. Finally, initiating a self-evaluation of your work in the course can be fruitful. Soliciting brief, focused, feedback from your students about a third of the way into the course can give you insights about both refinements you might make for the rest of the semester and issues you might request your Chair to attend to when he or she visits your class.

Personnel and Related Issues

Your Supervisor

The Dean of the College of Liberal Arts and Social Sciences (CLASS) is your direct supervisor. The Dean normally shares oversight of the four CLASS Divisions with the Associate Dean. Therefore, if the Associate Dean is covering your Division, you may refer questions about administrative matters to either the Dean or the Associate Dean.

Because the University operates through a process of shared governance, the recommendations of the faculty and Chair overseeing your Division will have considerable weight in the Dean's decisions or recommendations to the executive level of administration. You will find the assistance of faculty colleagues to be invaluable especially on pedagogical issues. You should check with the Chair, Associate Dean or Dean regarding any questions you might have concerning any confusing procedures, or sensitive issues.

Chair

Although this handbook attempts to provide a printed resource for many of the questions you might have, it has already directed you to your Chair for many specific issues. In general, the Chair is the college official with whom you will most directly work and to whom you report to first. It is the Chair's responsibility to oversee the quality of the division's people and programs, including full-time and part-time faculty. The Chair is also a resource for enhancing your own professional development. The Dean is your official supervisor.

Part-time Faculty

Because of limited resources, part-time faculty members (adjuncts) play an important role in the life of a discipline or program. The full-time faculty members of a discipline or program are responsible for curriculum development, and maintaining the lecture pool of part-time faculty. In most cases the full-time faculty members are more experienced than the part-time faculty members, and as such they should mentor and act as a resource for the part-time faculty. In some instances, a part-time faculty member may have more experience than the full-time faculty members in which case she/he can be a valuable resource for the full-time faculty. In either case, full-time faculty members should respect and assist their part-time colleagues.

Human Resources

The Human Resources Office is located in the Administration Building on the cliff-line. They can address other personnel questions you might have. The Payroll Office is located in the Administration Building. Those are the two offices where you must complete employment forms (W-4) and make other arrangements for employment purposes. However, before turning to either of these offices concerning compensation issues, please, speak with your Division secretary, or the CLASS Administrative Officer, Mrs. Doreen Fernandez, who is the official CLASS timekeeper and is knowledgeable about the financial terms of your contract.

Privileges

As a full-time member of the faculty, you may check out material from the RFK library. You are encouraged to attend college events. In addition to the merits of the programs themselves, this will afford you the opportunity for contact with students outside of class. Parking on campus is open. There are no special parking places for faculty or staff.

Library Card

Full-time faculty should stop by the HRO and obtain a UOG employee ID card and then go to the library for a bar code. Your UOG ID card can be used to check books from the library and for other services on campus. For library hours of operation call 735-2331.

Paychecks

According to University policy all faculty members must submit evidence of a tuberculosis clearance. In the Fall, a TB skin test may be administered by Student Health Services for a small fee. Paychecks are issued after all required employment papers, including the Withholding Allowance Certificate (W-4 form) and yearly tuberculosis clearance are filled. Most faculty members are on a nine (9) month contract, and as such you have the option to be paid every two weeks over the course of the calendar year (26 pay periods), or you can receive all your pay over the nine month period (18 pay periods). Those few faculty members in the college who are on a twelve month contract are paid every two weeks. Special contracts are prepared for overload courses, and the pay is listed on your pay-stub as "overtime."

Abandoned Property

Any personal items left behind after someone leaves his or her position will be discarded after one week.

College Related Information

Policies

You should have a copy of key policy documents such as the BOR/AFT Faculty Union Agreement that is the contract governing work conditions, the Comprehensive Faculty Evaluation System, the UOG Rules, Regulations and Procedures Manual (available online), the College Rules and Procedures Manual, and the Student Handbook.

Professional Standards

The basis of all interaction at the University of Guam is the expectation that students, faculty, administrators, and staff will behave in accordance with the values of an academic community.

As a member of the College community, each instructor has a positive responsibility with respect to professional ethical standards. This responsibility involves the appropriate interpretation of such standards and the promotion of conditions favorable to effective work. The instructor should remain in the classroom during tests and final examinations. If the instructor has reason to believe that a student has cheated, the instructor is to file a complaint with the Dean or Associate Dean as soon as possible after the student has completed the test. At this time the instructor is asked to present all facts and documents necessary to support his/her belief that the student has cheated. Plagiarism and other forms of attempting to receive credit for work not one's own are obvious violations. You will need, however, to clarify with your students what is and is not acceptable behavior for the type of teaching you do. For instance, if projects are done within the context of collaborative learning groups, but each member submits his or her own project report, it is imperative to be clear what is acceptable behavior and what is appropriate acknowledgment of the contributions made by group members. A careful and thorough review of professional standards and their application in your class fosters reflection on the part of your students concerning their ethical obligations and commitment as part of the college community.

The responsibility of the instructor is interpreted to include:

- * clear exposition of the values and obligations of professional standards,
- * the maintenance of order,
- * quiet demonstration of the importance of personal interest, fairness and mutual consideration, and
- * uniform procedure in handling violations.

In the event of a violation, the incident should be reported to the Dean or Associate Dean. The professor has the right to handle the matter, and may take the student to the Discipline and Adjudication Committee to file a formal complaint and take further disciplinary action.

You may want to request that each student sign a pledge for all tests, examinations and all outside written work, which is to be completed independently, indicating that the student has neither given nor received aid.

Each instructor has the responsibility to indicate to his/her class the policy in regard to the pledging of assigned work done outside of class. There should be complete and explicit instructions regarding the ethical standards for the pledge.

Sexual Misconduct

Sexual misconduct is a violation of University policy, as well as Guam and federal law.

A. Policy

This policy prohibits all forms of sexual misconduct, including but not limited to sexual harassment, sexual assault, sex offense, domestic violence, dating violence, stalking, and inappropriate amorous relationships. Further, this policy expressly prohibits retaliation against an individual because of their good faith participation in the reporting, investigation, or adjudication of violations of this policy.

University students and employees who violate this policy will face discipline up to and including expulsion or termination.

All members of the University Community must work together to prevent and eliminate sexual misconduct at the University of Guam. The following is a direct link to the UOG Sexual Misconduct Policy.

http://www.uog.edu/sites/default/files/uog_sexual_misconduct_policy_revised_17_mar_2016_final.pdf

B. Definition

Sexual Misconduct is a broad term that encompasses sexual harassment, sexual assault, sex offenses, and may also include domestic violence, dating violence, stalking, and inappropriate amorous relationships. Sexual misconduct can occur between strangers and acquaintances including people involved in an intimate or sexual relationship. Sexual misconduct can be committed by men or women, and can occur between people of the same or different gender.

C. Complaint Procedures

Personnel who feel that sexual misconduct occurred against them, as defined, should report the incident to the Equal Employment Opportunity Officer 735-2971. If appropriate, further action may then be taken in accordance with the procedure outlined in the Sexual Misconduct Policy guidelines.

Inclement Weather

The college remains open during tropical storms and other inclement weather to serve resident students and commuters who live near the campus. However, if weather conditions are so severe as to render it dangerous for students to reach the college, those who elect not to come to campus on that particular day will not be penalized for failure to do so.

University of Guam faculty and staff members are expected to be prudent but to take all reasonable measures to reach the campus during inclement weather. In some cases administrative offices will be open even if classes are canceled or the schedule is altered. Only the President cancels classes due to weather problems.

A. Closing Before the Workday Begins

A decision to cancel classes and close the college or alter the schedule of classes before the workday begins will be relayed via the media. For faculty, staff, and students who sign up for UOG text alerts, information will be disseminated to mobile devices in addition to information relayed to the following local radio and television stations:

Radio Stations	Television Stations
K-57 Talk Radio (am)	KUAM Channel 8

B. Closing During the Day (employees already at work)

A decision to close during the day will be transmitted to the vice presidents, and the decision will be communicated to campus offices or to the appropriate offices affected. The decision will also be listed on the UOG web page, <http://www.uog.edu/>.

Drug-Free Workplace

In compliance with the Drug-Free Workplace Act of 1998, the University of Guam is committed to maintaining a healthy, drug-free work environment. The unlawful MANUFACTURE, DISTRIBUTION, DISPENSATION, POSSESSION OR USE OF A CONTROLLED SUBSTANCE, as defined in the Act, is prohibited in the workplace.

In accordance with the Act, as a condition of employment, each employee must do the following:

1. Abide by the terms of the above statement
2. Notify UOG of any criminal drug statute conviction for a violation occurring in the workplace no later than five days after such conviction. Upon notification from the employee, the College is obligated to report such conviction to the federal government within ten days.

The Drug-Free Workplace Act does not require drug testing. However, violation by an employee of any prohibitions set forth in the above statement will be grounds for disciplinary action up to and including termination, and may have legal consequences.

Note that consuming alcohol on campus without prior approval from the appropriate administrator, and intoxication on campus are grounds for adverse action (BOR/AFT Agreement).

Non-Smoking Policy

The University of Guam is a smoke-free and tobacco-free campus with respect to all of its facilities. UOG supports the rights of nonsmokers and enables smoke-free environments to be established in classrooms, in public service areas and, generally, in all enclosed building areas on campus. There is no designated smoking area on campus.

Faculty Grievance Procedure

Faculty members do have the contractual right to file a grievance against an administrator for breach of contract. In the spirit of cooperation and collegiality, an informal solution for problems or complaints should first be attempted before filing a grievance. Details on the grievance procedure can be found in the BOR/AFT Faculty Union Agreement, and the Rules, Regulations, and Procedures Manual.

Additional Campus Resources

Student Activities Center

Campus Security

You might wish to know that campus security can provide you an escort to your car. If you are on campus and desire an escort to your car or some other location on campus, please contact the security office at 735-2365 or their pager 476-9804 or 649-9275, or 888-2456.

Emergencies

In the event that you encounter an emergency situation on campus you should report the incident to campus security. You should also inform the Dean's office, so we can follow up on the incident. If there is a threat to one's person or public or private property do not hesitate to call the Guam Police Department 911.

Mentoring for New Faculty

Record Keeping

Documentation and Quality Work

In an attempt to coordinate the mentoring of new faculty members, the following suggestions are put forward. This section is addressed to incoming faculty members to assist them to prepare their folders and statements for annual CFES reports, renewal of employment, promotion and tenure--see the BOR/AFT Faculty Union Agreement for the time lines and deadlines.

First, faculty members should be sure to study the BOR/AFT Faculty Union Agreement, and the Comprehensive Faculty Evaluation System (CFES), especially note the year/semester in which you must apply for renewal of your tenure stream contract (reappointment), and the time lines under which you may apply for promotion and tenure. You should prepare yourself to meet the requirements to apply for promotion and tenure as soon as you become eligible. You should especially consider applying for tenure as soon as you are eligible in the first semester of your fifth consecutive year to play it safe because you must be granted tenure by the end of your sixth consecutive year. This means that you basically have two opportunities to apply for tenure, or only one opportunity to re-apply if you were not awarded tenure on the first attempt.

To assist you in the documentation process, three different guides are provided:

- 1) the first is a supplement to the CFES and is used for the yearly or three year increment report;
- 2) the second is a special type of CV outline, and
- 3) the third is the check list (which is derived from the CFES) used by the Promotion and Tenure Committee in evaluating applications.

At first the guidelines of the Comprehensive Faculty Evaluation System may seem to be more burden than assistance, likewise the record keeping and documentation of your endeavors. However, over time as you watch your record and file grow, you may feel a sense of accomplishment. When you prepare for your interview for your yearly increment, or when you begin to write your statement for contract renewal (reappointment), promotion, and tenure, then you will be glad that you kept good records which refresh your memory and assist you in documenting years of work.

You can demystify the CFES if you turn directly to the section, which gives the guidelines and sets the minimum requirements for promotion and tenure. Be sure to make note that for tenure the minimum required percentages are 15% for service; 25% for creative/research activity, and 50% for instruction (instruction is usually one's primary role). This means that you only have

10% to allocate as you will. Because the requirements for tenure are more stringent than those for promotion, and because tenure is ultimately more important than promotion, it is highly recommended that you set your goals and your percentages for the CFES to meet the requirements for tenure. (Do note that according to the current CFES, one must hold the rank of Assistant Professor before applying for tenure.)

The following are some helpful suggestions:

Because instruction (preparation, delivery, and grading) occupies so much time and it is very easy to become overly absorbed in service endeavors and committee work, it is often difficult to engage in the creative activity/research endeavor. One way to maintain high productivity is to be working on three creative/research projects/papers at the same time, that is, to have, at least, one project/paper completed and submitted to a journal, another paper in the revision stage, and to be initiating a new project. That is, each semester try to work on three topics with one in the mail, and two on your desk. Start with what you have already written, e.g. sections of your dissertation, graduate seminar research papers, topics from your courses, your last story or play, painting, sculpture (whatever type of research/creative activity applies to your field). While you rework what you already created, start working on another project. Do try to acquire some off-island publications that will really assist in your promotion and tenure applications.

If you are interested in expanding your research interest to local concerns, but wonder where you can publish your results, the following refereed journals accept articles on Micronesia.

When you apply for promotion and tenure, it is advised that you follow the Promotion and Tenure committee's evaluation check list (see attached) in writing your comprehensive statement and preparing your packet. Think creatively in preparing your application. For example, if you have a lot of evidence for instruction but are light in research or service, then present some of your instruction materials as research or service. Do not claim the same work in both areas, rather claim some of the work you did under instruction in one of the other endeavors. For example, a student assessment study might be claimed as a research endeavor, or developing new curriculum might be claimed as a service to your program or Division.

We hope that these guides and suggestions are of assistance to you in preparing your annual CFES report and plan, for contract renewal, promotion and tenure. If you have any questions now or in the future, please, do not hesitate to ask the Dean, Associate Dean or Chair for assistance.

I, _____, am a student at the University of Guam ("University"). I have agreed to participate in the _____ during (dates) _____. My participation in this Program is wholly voluntary. In consideration of being allowed to participate in this Program, I hereby state and agree as follows:

1. I represent and warrant that I am and will be covered throughout the Program by a policy of comprehensive health and accident insurance which provides coverage for injuries and illnesses I sustain or experience overseas, while traveling to and from, or while participating in the Program. By my signature below, I certify that my health insurance policy will adequately cover me while outside Guam, and I release and absolve the University of all responsibility and liability for any injuries, illnesses (including death), claims, damages, charges, bills and/or expenses I may incur while I am abroad.
2. I understand that the University reserves the right to make changes to the Program itinerary at any time and for any reason, with or without notice, and the University shall not be liable for any loss whatsoever to participants by reason of any such cancellation or change. The University is not responsible for penalties assessed by air carriers that may result due to operational and/or itinerary changes, regardless of whether the participant or the University makes a flight arrangement. My baggage and personal property are at my risk entirely. The University reserves the right to decline to accept or retain me on the Program at any time should my actions or general behavior impede the operation of the Program or the right or welfare of any person, including but not limited to my own welfare. Similarly, if my conduct violates any policy or procedure of the University, I understand that I may be required to leave the Program in the sole discretion of the University's agents and representatives, and may be referred to the appropriate University officials for further disciplinary or other action. In such an event, no refund will be made for any unused portion of the Program. The right is reserved by the University, in its sole discretion, to cancel the Program or any aspect thereof prior to departure; and, in the University's sole discretion, to cancel the Program or any aspect thereof after departure, requiring that all participants return to Guam, if the University determines or believes that any person is or will be in danger if the Program or any aspect thereof is continued.

4. I, individually, and on behalf of my heirs, successors, assigns and personal representatives, agree to indemnify, defend and hold harmless the University and the Program and their employees, agents, officers, trustees and representatives (in their official and individual capacities) from any and all liability, loss, damage or expense, including attorneys fees, that they or any of them incur or sustain as a result of any claims, demands, actions, causes of action, damages, judgments, costs or expenses, including attorneys fees, which arise out of, occur during, or are in any way connected with my participation in the Program or any travel incident thereto.

5. I hereby acknowledge that I have read, understand and will abide by each of the terms and conditions of this Agreement.

RE: Process for Processing Payment for Last Minute Faculty Desk Copies

CLASS Staff have requested desk copies for all textbooks for CLASS Spring 2010 courses, with the possible exception of new editions of which we have recently been informed. Most of the desk copies needed have been received. However, there are some exceptions. Because of the academic necessity and urgency of faculty having a copy of the book from which they are teaching, the College and Triton's Bookstore will continue the cooperation of the past through an exchange process of a textbook on the shelf for the new desk copy of that book when it arrives.

If a suitable replacement for the desk copy extended by Triton's Bookstore is not made by the College by _____, CLASS will reimburse Triton's Bookstore for the cost of the book. We will refer to the books extended in this arrangement as the TB swap book and the CLASS swap book.

Please provide the following TB swap book:

Grade changes from Incomplete (letter grades of "I") An "I" may be given to a student who has failed to complete a small, but important part of the course if the reasons for the Incomplete are justified by the instructor and the dean. The appropriate incomplete form must be completed and signed by the dean before the Incomplete can be assigned to the student. The Incomplete form remains on file in the Dean's Office. To receive credit for an undergraduate course marked "I," the student must satisfactorily complete the unfinished work by the last day of classes of the following regular semester after the incomplete grade was issued. The faculty will issue a grade following normal timelines.

Should the student fail to complete the specified work to the satisfaction of the instructor, no credit will be recorded and the symbol "I" will be changed to an "F" on her or his record. No requests for time extension will be accepted. In exception to this policy on Incomplete: (1) For those courses which do not use the "F" grade, the equivalent non-credit grade will be assigned, and (2) All grades of Incomplete must be resolved prior to certification for graduation. If a student who is applying for graduation has an unresolved Incomplete at the time that the Registrar certifies their eligibility for graduation, the "I" will be changed to an "F" or equivalent non-credit grade and used in the final GPA calculation.

Other grade changes Grade change requests or appeals on the basis of additional academic course work submitted after the official issuance to the Registrar of a grade for the course will not be considered. No grades other than the "I" will be changed on the student's permanent record except under the specific conditions listed below, where errors of a technical or clerical nature, problems with the instructor's grading, or problems in the recording of administrative symbols such as UW have occurred:

- When certified by the instructor and by the Registrar as a technical or clerical error; or
- When the decision reached through the completed grievance process as outlined in the Procedure for Solution of Problems of Student Academic Rights in the Student Handbook specifies that the grade is to be changed (this grievance procedure is to be used in problems between the student and the instructor concerning grading); or
- When an appeal for a grade change because of problems related to the recording of administrative symbols that are not actually grades, such as UW, in the Office of Admissions and Records is approved by the Senior Vice President of Academic and Student Affairs (the appeals procedure is used in these situations).

The official action specifying a grade change under the three conditions stated above must be submitted in writing to the Registrar who will complete the necessary revisions on the permanent record card.
