

Christine Baleto, Honorary Co-chair for UOG's Platinum Jubilee

Christine Baleto is the chief financial officer of Docomo Pacific, a wholly owned subsidiary of NTT DOCOMO, Japan's leading mobile operator. Baleto is the first woman to join the senior management team of the company and the first local hire to fill the position. In her almost 30-year career in management, finance, and accounting, her experience transcends through the nonprofit, private, and government sectors. Prior to joining Docomo Pacific, she was the CFO for MidPac Distributors and the chief financial adviser to the board; director of the Guam Department of Administration, where she provided oversight and direction to GovGuam's Division of Accounts, Human Resources Division, General Services Agency, Office of Technology, and Treasurer of Guam; general manager of Market Wholesale Distributors; and executive director of Sanctuary Inc.

In 2009, Baleto was awarded the license right for the FROOTS brand on Guam and in the Marianas. Under her leadership, the stores received recognition from the corporate franchise for highest per store sales throughout the franchise system. The restaurant business has been operating for more than 11 years and is now based at Andersen Air Force Base on Guam, where it continues to do well.

In addition to her professional career, Baleto has been an active member of many civic and local boards. She serves as the chairwoman of the board for the Guam Chamber of Commerce and has been a board member for the past six years.

Baleto was Guam Business Magazine's 2007 Businesswoman of the Year. In 2020, she was recipient of the UOG Distinguished Alumni Award under the School of Business and Public Administration.
