SUBJECT: The Society's Tenth Annual Report (2006)

Members of the Society of Emeritus Professors and Retired Scholars (SEPRS) have engaged in numerous academic, research, and service activities this past year. These professional endeavors demonstrate how these faculty continue to help the University achieve its mission for our community, the region, and elsewhere throughout the world. Attached is our annual report listing of the work by Society members.

There are several highlights of the Society's activities this year that we want to note here

1. The Society welcomed a number of its off-island members at its March 14, 2006 meeting, who had returned to participate in the celebration of the University's Marine Laboratory during Charter week events. Attending members included James Marsh, Richard Randall, Lou Eldridge, and Roy Tsuda, along with on-island member Wilfred Leon Guerrero, Hiro Kurashina, Kenneth Carriveau, Patty Jo Hoff, Randall Workman, Paul Callaghan, Clay Carlson, Lorraine Yamashita, Larry Kasperbauer, George Kallingal, Jose Leon Guerrero, Lou Klitzkie, Robert Sajnovsky, and Robert Underwood.
2. At its July quarterly meeting, the Society was pleased to hear from more off-island members, such as Cathy Owings, Ted Critchfield, and others. They responded to an email from the Chair indicating they were interested in maintaining involvement, and asked they continue to receive meeting minutes, annual reports and other information from and about SEPRS.

3. For the final two quarterly meetings of 2006 (September 20 and December 6), the Chair invited University administrators to engaged in discussions with members. Dr. Harold L. Allen, UOG President, Dr. Helen Whippy, UOG AVP, and Dr. Jeff D.T. Barcinas, UOG VP-UCE, attended the September meeting, and the December meeting was attended by Dr. Lee Yudin, Dean CNAS, Dr. James Sellmann, Acting Dean, CLASS.

Thank you for your continued support and attention.

PAUL CALLAGHAN

This year I started a new endeavor that, given progress to date, may take several years. I am attempting to write the story of my wife's life. The idea for this undertaking originated with a friend, an anthropologist at U. H. Hilo, who said that there was almost nothing written about life in Palau during the period shortly after WWII. So, at the moment the prologue reads something like this: It has been said that the experiences of childhood shape one's personality for a lifetime. This child was raised on an island in the middle of nowhere by an old lady who spoke no English and had few worldly possessions other than those gleaned from land and sea. Such rearing provides the foundation for a truly incredible lifetime journey, documented here in the hope that others will be inspired to make the most of what God has given them. By way of story I hope to document the subsistence lifestyle of southern Palau in the late 1940's and early 1950's, and at the same time, provide insight as to how the lessons learned from a hunting and gathering environment can result in the judgement, fortitude, willpower, and sheer tenacity necessary to confront formidable challenges in an alien world.

JAMES MARSH

In Honolulu I continue my activities as a docent at the Honolulu Academy of Arts, leading tours and getting put on committees, etc. This year I've done a lot of travel. Starting in January I spent a week on Christmas Island (Republic of Kiribati). In March I traveled to Guam for the Marine Lab's 35th anniversary celebration, and attended the meeting of the Society of Emeritus Professors and Retired Scholars. From August to October I had a 10-week trip which took me around the world. After a 24-hour stopover in Beijing it was on to Mongolia and a 9-day circuit through the Gobi Desert, including a visit to the Flaming Cliffs fossil dinosaur site (lots of childhood reading about that and the explorations of Roy Chapman Andrews), Trans-Mongolian RR to Irkutsk, Russia, and Lake Baikal (a mecca for aquatic scientists), then 77 hours on the Trans-Siberian RR to Moscow, on to St Petersburg, 6 other countries in Western Europe.

KATHY OWINGS

I continue as volunteer at the Northwest Museum of Arts and Culture (the MAC) as an art docent. This year the main exhibit was Native American basketry, an exhibit of 125 baskets from all over the western part of the country. In addition, "I guess I am my granddaughter's 'finishing school,' as she lives with me, and I am trying to get her safely through high school and into college."

ROBERT M. SAJNOVSKY

Continued 12th year of co-hosting, along with my wife, Dr. Cynthia Sajnovsky, "Airing the Arts", a weekly 30 minute program for KPRG, Guam's Public Radio Station. We interview local artists and discuss current art events in which they are engaged, and provide a calendar of current arts events happening on Guam.

Continued volunteer work as a Coast Guard Auxiliarist by serving as Guam Flotilla's Operations Officer. Duties included organizing boats and crew for Group Guam search and rescue exercises, organizing boat and crew for regatta patrols, organizing boats and crew for routine safety and training patrols and preparing calendar of on-water patrols for inclusion in Flotilla monthly newsletter.

Was designated "Plank Owner" for 21' Rigid Hull Inflatable Boat turned over to Auxiliary by Coast Guard. Duties included seeing to the general maintenance of vessel, checking the systems of the vessel monthly and reporting any problem areas, as well as running the vessel as often as practical.

Also taught most lessons of three CGAUX boating safety courses: one Boating Safely course and two classes of Boating Skills and Seamanship.

Appeared with my vessel on the 21' RHIB in Guam's Liberation Day Parade, at Micronesian Mall on 20 May, and at Anderson Air Force Base on Sept . 29, as a representative of the Coast guard Auxiliary promoting boating safety.

RANDALL WORKMAN

Elected to the Board of Directors, Guam Fo Guan Shan Buddhist Temple.
